3 days of drawing and painting!

I missed my annual January Triple Treat Workshop 2023 as we were riding motorbikes around India, but, not going anywhere in January so the date has been set for the start of the New Year 2024.

Isn't it scary how time flies, so I am putting this out really early as I am off to tutor again, this time in France for a month and want to give you plenty of time to plan for this.

The first two days of the workshop will be faces! Ever wanted to paint that dear face of a loved one, fascinating face of a friend or just a great face you have seen in a magazine? I can show you how! We will get down to all the basics.

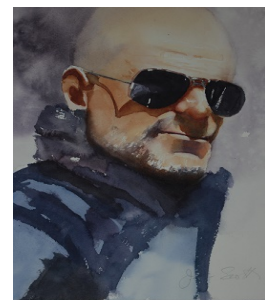

Where to start? How to get a likeness? What tones? What colours do I use?

Can I do this as I have never done a face before?

Yes is the answer to all these questions. Interested? Read on.

Day 1. Looking at the structure of the skull, learn how to draw the face, eyes, nose and mouth, getting a great likeness using a simple techniques and a foolproof method. We will talk about colours and tones and work towards our face for the following day.
